

Venture Fund Lead

This role provides an opportunity to build a unique investment eco-system in one of London's leading healthcare systems.

Imperial College Health Partners, a not for profit company with the mission to innovate and collaborate for a healthier population, is developing an Evergreen Fund to better align incentives between the investment community, entrepreneurs and NHS providers. ICHP provides consultancy services to its members and works with an international community of investors and entrepreneurs as well as large industry.

- Actively seek out and assess potential ventures and commercial opportunities that derive from ICHP core consultancy projects with its partners and would benefit from solutions provided by entrepreneurs
- Operationalise the interface between core ICHP consultancy projects, existing support offers to entrepreneurs and a venture vehicle
- Develop a clear value proposition for entrepreneurs and investors
- Facilitate and develop a network of early adopters, sector experts and senior sponsors for adoption of ventures in North West London and ability to scale nationally and globally
- Continuously evolve the commercial and procurement model required to run the fund
- In addition to a small number of lead investors, curate the network of investors from pre-seed, seed to series C and developing a scalable mechanism for engaging them in North West London opportunities
- Generate appropriate value to all parties and grow the fund over time.

You will have passion for healthcare coupled with an interest in and ideally experience of the investment community and particularly venture capital or fund management. You enjoy working with a value driven team of high achieving individuals in a dynamic and growing organisation.

If you are interested to learn more, please contact ea@imperialcollegehealthpartners.com